This is a translation of Föreningen Ekonomernas Swedish policy “Personuppgiftspolicy”. In case of ambiguity in matters of dispute, the Swedish version shall always apply.

BACKGROUND AND PURPOSE
The new data protection regulation (GDPR) was implemented in all EU countries on the 25th of May 2018. This entailed a number of changes and stricter rules for how companies and organizations process and store personal data. This also applies to the Föreningen Ekonomerna, who works to protect the integrity of each member. The following document aims to describe how the Association handles and stores its members’ personal data.

There are several purposes for Föreningen Ekonomerna storing its members’ personal data. The Association limits itself to purpose use, which means that the information given for, for example, an event, is only used for that specific event. The Association also uses data and storage restrictions, which means that the purpose is always to limit so that the need and storage length is limited to a short time as possible. Exact time frames for each type of information being stored is clarified further down.

The purpose of Föreningen Ekonomerna’s collection and storage of personal data is to be able to work for the members’ benefit, carry out educational surveillance for the members and other parts of the Association’s purpose, such as arranging social and professional events. Thus, the Association needs to have the means to get in contact with its members to inform them of such matters.

Each member has the right to access their stored personal data and have it corrected if these are incorrect.

STATUTORY BASIS
Article 6 §1 of the General Data Protection Regulation states legal bases for the processing and storage of personal data, describing that at least one legal basis must be fulfilled in order to lawfully process and store personal data. Based on the legal grounds stated in the paragraph, Föreningen Ekonomerna considers the first premise and the first part of the fifth premise to be followed, stating that “the data subject has given consent to the processing of his or her personal data for one or more specific purposes” and “processing is necessary for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest”, since the Association only stores information that the member has voluntarily provided, or that has been given by Stockholm Business School in the purpose of educational surveillance.

USAGE OF PERSONAL DATA

The following section presents how Föreningen Ekonomerna stores information about the members, what type of information is stored, why and for how long they are stored.

If done so, the data needs to be deleted after the purpose has been accomplished. Google Drive

The Association has several Google Drive accounts. The personal data stored in these accounts include contact details to active members (defined as members holding any internal position) and trustees. The motivation to store this is to be able to reach out to members with relevant information. This information is to be deleted at the end of each project/mission and is thus being stored up to twelve (12) months. Each board member, committee chair and project member is responsible that this happens to their account respectively.

This information is being stored in order to be able to coordinate and carry out the fair to ensure that everyone is reached by the relevant information. All data is to be deleted upon the end of the fair.

Mecenat

All information given to Mecenat is given by the member themselves upon membership registration. Information is stored during the time that the membership is active and two years after that, this in accordance with Mecenat’s GDPR Policy. The Head of IT is responsible for clearing information at the start of each semester.

Podio
Podio is used as the Association’s online workspace and internal channel of communication. Active members within the Association create their own account and the Association does not have access to these nor stores this information. The material available on Podio for internal use contains both current and previous documents, such as statutes, policies and project plans.
